

Local Authority Duties

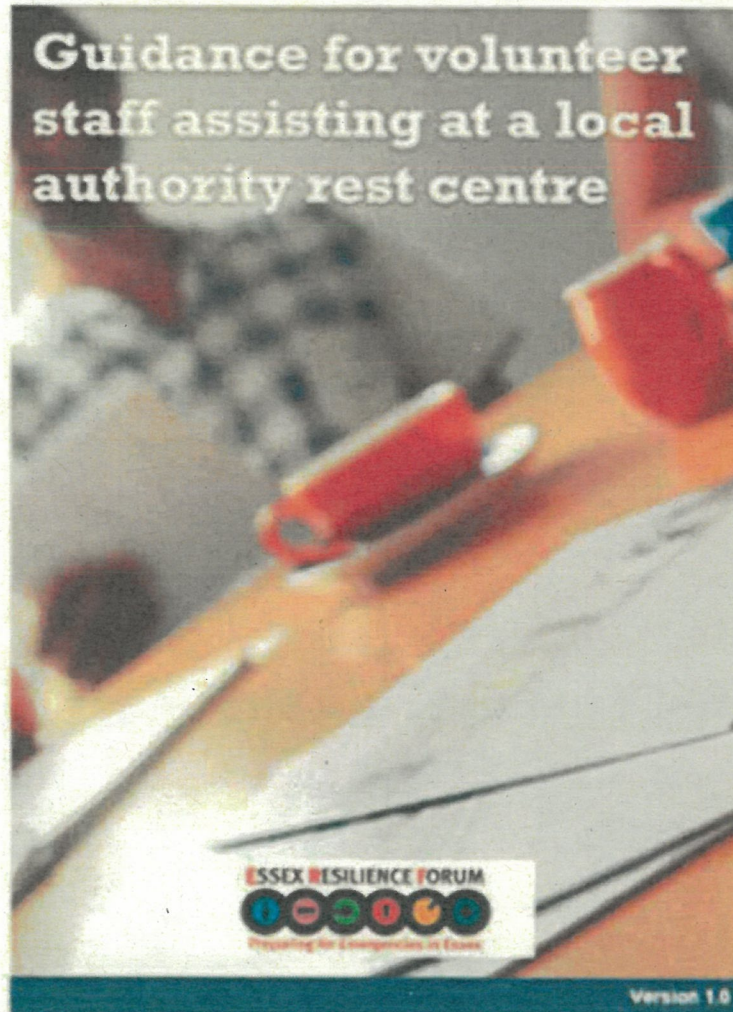

- Local authorities have a statutory duty of care to provide temporary accommodation for residents displaced as a result of an emergency.
- Local authorities may be requested to assist in establishing an emergency assistance centre during a major incident.
- Rest centres are used to house evacuees in the short term after an incident before other arrangements are made moving to the longer term.
- Each authority has pre-identified sites that can be used, these range from village halls and community centres to larger facilities.

Rest Centre Equipment

- Local Authorities have a store of equipment available to them to aid in the set up and operation of a Rest Centre
